Risto is focused on resolving disputes in civil, administrative and arbitration proceedings, as well as advising clients in enforcement, bankruptcy and reorganization proceedings. Risto has a special interest in the fields of medical and data protection law, within the framework of which he has advised several international pharmaceutical companies with branches in Estonia on issues e.g., related to conducting clinical trials. As a person who honors healthy lifestyle, it is also important for Risto to develop the field of sports law by contributing not only to resolving ad hoc issues of various sports clubs but also to the work of the disciplinary committee of the Estonian Handball Association.
